

2019 FEATURED SPEAKER

Dr. Scott Manning Stevens

Michael D. Green Lecture in American Indian Studies

"RECLAIMING OUR NARRATIVES OF PLACE: HAUDENOSAUNEE HISTORY ON THE GROUND"

When: Tuesday, Nov. 5th
2:30pm - Reception
3:15pm - Lecture

Where: Pleasants Family Assembly
Room - Wilson Library

Co—Sponsors:
American Indian Center, American
Indian and Indigenous Studies,
Department of American Studies

Dr. Scott Manning Stevens is a citizen of the Akwesasne Mohawk Nation and the Director of the Native American Studies Program at Syracuse University and an Associate Professor of Native American Studies and English. He also holds courtesy appointments in the Departments of Art and Music History and of Religion. He earned his PhD from Harvard University in English and has published a variety of coauthored books and articles on Native American literature and visual culture.

919.843.4189

americanindiancenter.unc.edu
americanindianstudies.unc.edu